

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a method of promoting smoking cessation in a human comprising administration to the human an effective amount of reboxetine in combination with the administration of a smoking-cessation enhancing agent. Also disclosed is a composition for administration to a human for promoting smoking cessation comprising reboxetine and smoking-cessation enhancing agent. Examples of the smoking-cessation enhancing agents include nicotine, an antidepressant, a nicotine receptor antagonist, and an opioid antagonist.